Cast Into Fall: Fishing Season Is Here!

September is one of the best times to experience fishing along the Brunswick County coast. As the water begins to cool, the annual fall mullet migration brings hungry fish closer to shore—creating fantastic opportunities for everyone from casual anglers to seasoned fishermen.

With fewer summer crowds, beautiful coastal weather, and plenty of ways to get on the water, fall is a wonderful time to grab your fishing gear and make a day of it.

Choose your adventure:

- Surf Fishing: Cast a line right from the beach while enjoying a quieter stretch of sand and the coastal breeze. The areas near Shallotte Inlet and Lockwood Folly Inlet are popular spots for catching fall favorites such as pompano, whiting, and bluefish.
- Pier Fishing: Enjoy the views and ocean air while dropping a line from Sunset Beach or Ocean Crest Pier. For something different, head to Southport and fish the Cape Fear River from the municipal fishing pier.
- Charter Fishing: Ready for a bigger adventure? September brings excellent king mackerel fishing just offshore. Local Brunswick County fishing charters can take care of the details while you enjoy a memorable day on the water.

And the best part? You don't have to love fishing to love September at Holden Beach. Spend the day browsing a local market, listening to live outdoor music, walking the beach, discovering a favorite coastal restaurant, or simply relaxing back at the campground.

With autumn markets, community festivals, live music, beautiful beaches, and some of the best fall fishing near Holden Beach, there's plenty of reason to plan a September getaway to the North Carolina coast.

Fish a little. Explore a little. Relax a lot.

Recipe of the Month: Skillet Coast-Style Fish Tacos

- Prep time: 10 minutes | Cook time: 6 minutes | Servings: 2
- Ingredients:
 - 2 Fish Fillets (approx. 1/2 lb): Local Grouper, Snapper, or Mahi-Mahi cut into bite-sized strips.
 - 1 tbsp Taco Seasoning Blend (Chili powder, cumin, garlic powder, salt).
 - 1 tbsp Butter or Olive Oil.

- 1 Can (15 oz) Corn & Black Bean Fiesta Blend (Fully drained to act as your fast salsa).
- 4 Small Flour or Corn Tortillas.
- Optional Toppings: A bag of shredded cabbage slaw and a squeeze bottle of spicy ranch dressing. Cilantro and lemon are a great touch of flavor to these tacos.

 Step-by-Step Instructions:

1. Season the Catch: Pat your fish strips dry with a paper towel and dust them evenly on both sides with your taco seasoning.
2. Flash Fry: Heat the butter or oil in your skillet over medium-high camp stove heat. Lay the fish down and cook without moving for 3 minutes until a nice outer crust forms. Flip gently and cook 2 to 3 minutes more until the fish flakes easily with a fork. Remove fish and set aside.
3. Warm the Tortillas: Turn the stove to low. Toss your tortillas directly into the warm skillet for 30 seconds to absorb the leftover seasoned butter and soften up.
4. Assemble: Pile the seasoned fish, drained corn/bean blend, and cabbage slaw into the warm tortillas, drizzle with ranch, and serve immediately. (Thank you Fresh Of the Grid for this Recipe)

Escape to Comfort: Glamping at Holden Beach RV Campground
